Library Curriculum

Senior Research

Presentations for the Senior Capstone begin March 9, 2017. Seniors will complete their first draft of the paper January 24, 2017.

Topics Include:
- Facial Micro-expressions Deceit Detection
- Monopolies national, administrative, and other
- Outsider Art and Religion
- Felines in society - history
- Kabbalistic Manuscripts and textual theories
- Vaccination in developing countries
- Child Marriage health / culture / religious / education
- Egyptian mathematics
- Memes throughout history
- Foster Care adoption of drug exposed children
- Mass Incarceration [new Jim Crow]

LibGuides

Many of our Teachers are collaborating with the Library this year! So, we have built these LibGuides to help with research.

Projects last semester:
- Mr. Nichol's Democracy research http://thewebbschool.libguides.com/democracyresearch
- Ms. Seals' Biome Poster Project http://thewebbschool.libguides.com/BiomeResearch
- Mr. Faulk's 8th Grade History project http://thewebbschool.libguides.com/History8
- Ms. Messick's 8th Grade English WWII project http://thewebbschool.libguides.com/8EnglishWWIIProject
- Mr. Felbrueges Physics Research http://thewebbschool.libguides.com/PhysicsResearch

Collection Development

We are working on a refresh and reorganization of our American and British Writers’ sections. These books are being organized in a Dewey / Genre hybrid organization.

Professional Development

Susan Coop Howell attended Tennessee Archives Institute, November 2016 [This completes the second year of a three year certification program through the Tennessee Library and Archives]

Hannah Byrd Little attended Tennessee Association of School Librarians [TASL] this year November 3-5, 2016 / She presented at the bi-annual TAIS Conference November 6-7, 2016, She is attending the ALA midwinter conference held in Atlanta Jan 20-23, 2017. Ms. Little is also working on a proposal to possibly co-present with the Webb California Library Director, Dr. Mark Dzula in the fall of 2017.
News or Not
BY HANNAH BYRD LITTLE ON 12/08/2016
Fake News and K-12 Information Literacy: Following the November 2016 Presidential election, there was great concern about fake news on Facebook and in Google searches. And then, in what seemed to be perfect timing, a Stanford group released the study “Evaluating Information:… Read More ›

Jobs of the Future
BY HANNAH BYRD LITTLE ON 11/03/2016
How school librarians can prepare students for jobs that don’t yet exist: What If? I often wish that I could see into the future so that I could prepare students for the next great thing. However, my MLIS degree did… Read More ›

Curation and Pathfinders
BY HANNAH BYRD LITTLE ON 09/07/2016
The Back-to-School Goal and the Conversation that ensued at my school, we are having a long overdue conversation about types of library materials and the organization of library materials (print versus electronic… Dewey or Don’t we, etc.). This conversation began… Read More ›

Survey the Students
BY HANNAH BYRD LITTLE ON 05/05/2016
Why Survey Students: Maybe you administer a student survey every year, or maybe you have never surveyed your students. With all of the evaluation systems required by programs like “Race To the Top,” etc. and with every state setting different guidelines for librarian evaluation,… Read More ›